

NUTRITION LESSON 1

NUTRITION BASICS.

What matters most, and the three rules we live by.

KEEP IT SIMPLE.

Type a food question into Google and you'll get 50 different answers. It's easy to get lost.

So we keep it simple. A few easy rules that work, and that you can change to suit your goals, your tastes and your life.

- ✕ NO FADS
- ✕ NO CRASH DIETS
- ✕ NO PRICEY PILLS
- ✕ NO BANNED FOODS

IN THIS GUIDE

1. The nutrition pyramid. What matters most, and what's in your food.

2. Our three rules, a real-food day, and what to do after a bad day.

WHAT MATTERS MOST.

The bottom of the pyramid matters most. The higher you go, the less it matters.

START AT THE BOTTOM

Get the bottom three right and you'll see real results. Most people start at the top with supplements, but they do very little until the rest is in place.

WHAT'S IN YOUR FOOD.

Most food is a mix of three things. You'll see them in your food app.

PROTEIN

Builds and repairs muscle, and keeps you full. Meat, fish, eggs and Greek yogurt.

CARBS

Your body's main fuel, for training and for your day. Rice, potatoes, oats and fruit.

FATS

Needed for your hormones and health. A little goes a long way. Avocado, nuts and olive oil.

NO MATHS NEEDED

Your coach sets your targets. You don't need to work anything out.

OUR THREE RULES.

Get these right and you'll get stronger, healthier, fitter and leaner.

1 SINGLE INGREDIENT FOODS 90% OF THE TIME

Eat real food most of the time.

2 BE FLEXIBLE 10% OF THE TIME

Enjoy treats, in small amounts.

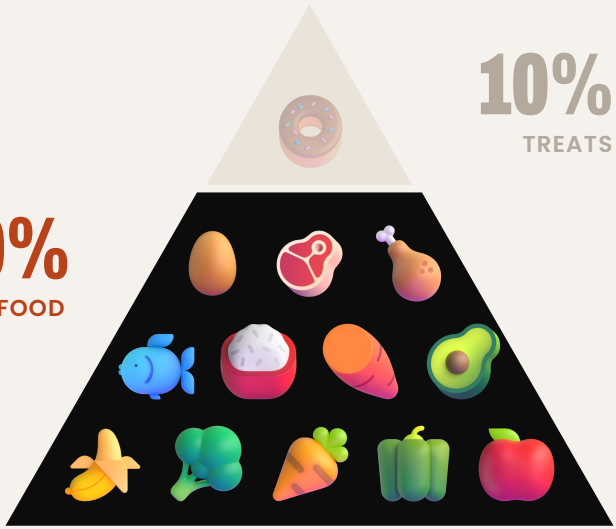

3 TRACK YOUR FOOD AND HIT YOUR TARGETS

Log what you eat in your food app.

When we opened the gym we had 9 or 10 rules. Then 6, then 4. Now it's just these three, because they're easy to follow and they work.

RULE 1

SINGLE INGREDIENT FOODS 90% OF THE TIME

JUST EAT REAL FOOD.

INSTEAD OF

An oven pizza

→

HAVE

Steak, sweet potato, peppers and onions

Real food gives you energy, keeps you full and makes you healthier. Notice how you feel after a takeaway: sleepy and ready for bed.

A REAL-FOOD DAY.

Single ingredient means just one thing, like an egg, a chicken breast or a potato. Here's what a day can look like.

BREAKFAST
Eggs, avocado and tomatoes

LUNCH
Chicken, rice and broccoli

DINNER
Steak, sweet potato, peppers and onions

SNACKS
Fruit and a handful of nuts

SAUCES AND OIL COUNT

A splash of sauce or oil is fine. Just log it in your food app.

RULE 2

BE FLEXIBLE 10% OF THE TIME

TREATS ARE FINE.

YOUR DAY 2,000 CALORIES

REAL FOOD	1,800

200 calorie chocolate bar. It fits.

You get to enjoy your life, and it never feels like a diet. The key word is moderation: fit treats inside your calories for the day.

Ice cream when it's hot	Popcorn at the cinema	Cake at a party

HAD A BAD DAY?

You haven't fallen off the wagon. One takeaway won't undo your progress, just like one salad won't fix it. What you do most of the time is what counts.

1 DON'T SKIP MEALS
Starving yourself to make up for it only makes you hungrier.

2 DON'T WAIT FOR MONDAY
Get back to it at your very next meal.

3 PLAN YOUR TREATS
Party on Saturday? Fit it into your calories for the day, then enjoy it without the guilt.

WHY CALORIES COUNT.

Calories are the energy in food. What you eat, compared to what you burn, decides what happens.

TO LOSE FAT

EAT A BIT LESS

→ Your body uses stored fat to make up the gap.

TO BUILD MUSCLE

EAT A BIT MORE

→ The extra is the fuel your body needs to build muscle.

RULE 3

TRACK YOUR FOOD AND HIT YOUR TARGETS

Your coach gives you a daily calorie and protein target. Find them on the Nutrition tab in Trainerize.

Log everything you eat in your food app. If you don't track, you're guessing.

CLOSE ENOUGH IS GOOD ENOUGH.

You'll never hit the exact number, and that's fine. If your target is 2,000, anywhere from 1,900 to 2,100 is a great day.

YOUR COACH CHECKS IT

At your strategy session we look at what you've tracked and move your calories up or down, so your progress never stalls for long.

NEW TO TRACKING?

It feels tricky at first. Learn to walk before you run.

1 JUST TRACK

For your first week, ignore targets. Just log what you eat and get used to the app.

2 HIT YOUR CALORIES

Once tracking is a habit, aim for your calorie target every day.

3 HIT YOUR PROTEIN

Then add your protein. It's in meat, fish, eggs and Greek yogurt, and it keeps you full.

WHY BOTHER?

Tracking shows if what you eat is moving you towards your goal. If your progress stalls, your coach can see why and change your targets.

REMEMBER THIS.

1 SINGLE INGREDIENT FOODS 90% OF THE TIME

2 BE FLEXIBLE 10% OF THE TIME

3 TRACK YOUR FOOD AND HIT YOUR TARGETS
